

PREA Scholarship Recipients

In keeping with its educational mission, PREA awards scholarships annually to promising students studying real estate at the undergraduate and graduate levels. PREA's scholarships have been distributed to students at 61 institutions.

We congratulate the following 2023 scholarship recipients.

Jennifer Andrea

Luccas Borges

Jordyn Dellis

Justin Gelwicks

Elizabeth Sheild

Jennifer Andrea is a Master in Real Estate candidate in the Baker Program at Cornell University SC Johnson College of Business. She is an author for the Real Estate Review and recently completed her first article examining the socioeconomic history of Boston real estate and the forward movements to change Boston's housing market. Andrea also serves as the Vice President of Communications for the Associate Real Estate Counsel and the VP of Communications for the Baker Student Organization Leadership Board. She completed her BS in Business Administration at Bryant University with a dual major in Leadership and Innovation Management, Finance and Bank Regulation, and she minored in Sociology and Service Entrepreneurship. Prior to Cornell, Andrea was a Commercial Lending Analyst. This summer she joined the CBRE Indirect Investment Team in Boston as an Indirect Investment Transactions Intern.

Luccas Borges is an MBA Intern at Temerity Strategic Partners. Before joining TSP, he was a Private Equity Associate with The Pritzker Organization and worked with the Real Estate practice in the Strategy and Corporate Finance group at McKinsey & Company. He published a case on affordable housing with Arthur Segel at Harvard Business School. Borges holds a BA in Economics from Harvard College, magna cum laude, and is completing an MBA from the University of Chicago Booth School of Business (expected June 2024), where he won the Booth and Oxford Global Private Equity Case competitions.

Jordyn Dellis is a rising junior at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, where she is studying Real Estate and Management. While still exploring the industry, she is most interested in capital markets and brokerage.

Justin Gelwicks will be a graduate student this fall at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology working toward a Master's in Real Estate Development. He was a student in the Lehigh University Integrated Business and Engineering Honors Program studying architecture, civil engineering, and real estate. During his undergraduate time, he worked in both agency and tenant representation for some of the top brokerage teams at CBRE and JLL, respectively. He also started a company called 3DC that creates innovative virtual real estate tours using the Matterport AI. Gelwicks' work in entrepreneurship has won him more than 25 scholarships and pitch competitions.

Elizabeth "Ellie" Sheild graduated in May 2023 with Distinction from Harvard University's Graduate School of Design with a master's degree in Urban Planning. She earned multiple faculty-conferred awards, including the Academic Excellence Award in Urban Planning for the highest cumulative GPA in her class and the Ferdinand Colloredo-Mansfeld Prize for Superior Achievement in Real Estate Studies, and she was awarded the peer-nominated Unsung Hero Book Prize for her community contributions. Sheild looks forward to continuing her postgraduate studies at Harvard and will join the university's inaugural cohort for the Master's in Real Estate degree program. Sheild hopes to use her graduate degrees and professional background in city planning to enter Boston's real estate industry.
